

Finance Department Policies

Financial transactions must be recorded accurately and supported by appropriate documentation.

Employees must follow the organization's approved expense and reimbursement procedures.

Purchase requests should receive the required approvals before financial commitments are made.

Invoices should be reviewed for accuracy before payment is processed.

Financial records must be retained according to applicable company and regulatory requirements.

Access to financial systems should be restricted to authorized employees.

Budget owners are responsible for monitoring spending against approved budgets.

Potential financial discrepancies should be reported through the approved escalation process.

Sensitive financial information must not be shared with unauthorized individuals.

Financial reports should be reviewed for completeness and accuracy before distribution.